Sometimes it's inevitable to strike. All strikes might inflict some pain. But through that pain, a new flower is born.

Ali Zare is an Iranian Visual artist who was born in Yazd, Iran. There Zare studied at the Faculty of Art and Architecture and received a Bachelor of Fine Arts with a focus on Painting. Since 2016 he has lived and worked in Vienna, Austria, and currently studies Contextual painting at the Academy of Fine Arts Vienna.

In most of my works, society and humans have a special place, and speaking about these two subjects was always my favorite theme.

My purpose has been to transfer the fragility I've experienced to the artwork itself.

And to represent the vital transitions, between light and dark, suffering and healing, or the other way around.
